

YOU'RE NOT JUST DONATING, YOU'RE JOINING A

COMMUNITY OF CHANGEMAKERS.

Rawhi Said, Program Director in Mayo Clinic's Office for Education Diversity, and his family have been involved with United Way of Olmsted County (UWOC) for generations. Now, Rawhi is a donor, and his daughter receives monthly books from Dolly Parton's Imagination Library, a program provided by UWOC.

"It's really tangible to see multi-generational impacts of United Way both for my family and now the next generation," Rawhi said. "My mom always said we came to this country with the shirts on our backs and two bags. It's organizations like United Way that are in the trenches, so to speak, helping these families out."

Learn more about Rawhi and United Way of Olmsted County by scanning the QR code.

